Message from Colonel Ed Frankenstein, Chief of Police

On behalf of the men and women of the Prince George County Police Department, I am pleased to present the 2014 Annual Report for the Department. The report outlines the great work done by the employees of the Police, Animal Services and Communications Departments.

In January of 2014, a huge milestone for this Department and Prince George County was accomplished when the Police Department was formally presented the Certificate of State Accreditation from the Virginia Law Enforcement Professional Standards Commission. This significant accomplishment was a result of the hard work and commitment to Professional Service by all of the Men and Women of the Police Department. In this report, we highlight that event with how this benefits the Department and the Community we serve.

Again for 2014, the Police Department is proud to announce an overall reduction in crime for Prince George County. This annual goal can be attributed to the hard work of all of the employees that I oversee, but it is also the team oriented approach we take with our Commonwealth's Attorney, Jay "C" Paul, and his team of prosecutors who ensure tough prosecution of all criminals, and most importantly, the relationship we have with our Community in generating solutions to the challenges we face. In addition, we are fortunate and thankful to have the full support of our Board of Supervisors and our County Administrator, Mr. Percy C. Ashcraft.

Lastly, I would like to extend my sincere appreciation to the entire Community and the employees of not only the Police Department but from many other county departments who made "National Night Out 2014" such a huge success. I am extremely proud of the relationship that exists within our county government as when it's needed, we all pull together.

As we enter into 2015, all of the employees that I proudly work with are, and will remain, committed to serving the citizens of Prince George County with the highest level of professionalism and integrity. We will continue to move Prince George County to the forefront as a leader in the region in Public Safety, ensuring a quality of life we all can enjoy.

Sincerely,

Colonel Ed Frankenstein
Chief of Police

Accreditation

In 2014, the Police Department went in front of the Virginia Law Enforcement Professional Standards Commission Executive Board, in Newport News, to get the final determination on whether we would be granted Accreditation. The Board voted unanimously to grant Prince George Police Department the 91st, accreditation certificate. We feel that this is an outstanding achievement since there are over 400 law enforcement agencies in the state of Virginia. Once the Department was granted its initial accreditation, the process started all over again. November, 20, 2014 saw the first of four terms come to an end with all 190 standards being met. November, 21st began a new term with the department once again starting from the beginning and looking to meet all 190 standards.

What it means.....

WHAT IT MEANS TO THE COMMUNITY:

Accreditation increases the law enforcement agency's ability to prevent and control crime through more effective and efficient delivery of law enforcement services to the community it serves.

WHAT IT MEANS TO THE POLICE CHIEF:

Increase public confidence in law enforcement; and to promote the professionalism of the Prince George County Police Department.

WHAT IT MEANS TO THE POLICE OFFICERS:

Accreditation requires that agency policies and procedures are in written form and are available to all agency personnel at all times. Accreditation assures employees that every aspect of the agency's personnel system is in accord with professional standards, and that the system is both fair and equitable.

The Virginia Law Enforcement Professional Standards Commission (VLEPSC) provides law enforcement agencies in the Commonwealth with an avenue for demonstrating that they meet commonly accepted standards for efficient and effective agency operation. The Virginia Sheriffs' Association, the Virginia Association of Chiefs of Police and the Virginia Department of Criminal Justice Services (DCJS) make up the VLEPSC. Executive board members consisting of active Sheriffs and Chiefs of Police establish professional standards and administer the accreditation process by which Virginia agencies can be systematically measured, evaluated, and updated.

Accreditation increases the law enforcement agency's ability to prevent and control crime through more effective and efficient delivery of law enforcement services to the community it serves. Accreditation enhances community understanding of the law enforcement agency and its role in the community as well as its goals and objectives. Accreditation, in conjunction with the philosophy of community policing, commits the agency to a broad range of programs (such as crime prevention) that directly benefit the public. Accreditation creates a forum in which police and citizens work together to control and prevent crime. This partnership will help citizens to understand the challenges that confront law enforcement. Law enforcement will, in turn, receive clear direction from the community about its expectations. Thus, a common set of goals and objectives will be arrived at and implemented.

With your help.....an arrest was made!

Neighborhood Watch

The Neighborhood Watch Program is organized by concerned citizens, with Law Enforcement assistance, in an effort to reduce crime in their communities. Working with the Prince George County Police, these citizens can learn when and how to report suspicious activities as well as implement home security measures and precautions. The program helps to address the concerns of the citizens ranging from domestic violence, drugs and gang activity to abandoned cars and vacant lots filled with trash. No matter where you live, you can still beat the risk of becoming the victim of crime. However, addressing small problems early is often the best way to prevent larger problems from occurring down the road. Any resident of any community located in the County of Prince George can join the Prince George Neighborhood Watch Program, even those citizens that do not own their home but are just renting. Currently, there are eight (8) active Neighborhood Watch Groups throughout Prince George County.

Business Watch Program

The Business Watch Program was started in 2013 for Prince George County businesses with the focus on Crime Prevention and Business Security. The program's goal is to reduce crime, or the fear of crime, while promoting communication between the area businesses and the Police Department. The "Business Watch" program is a form of Neighborhood Watch and will allow "neighbors" to have an avenue for sharing information as well as understanding/promoting basic crime prevention.

This program was started in the area of the Crossings Shopping Center with Ms. Traci Hackley of the Baymont Inn and Suites being the first to register as a member. Since then, more than 240 other businesses have signed up as members. "Business Watch" has continued to expand to the other area businesses throughout Prince George County.

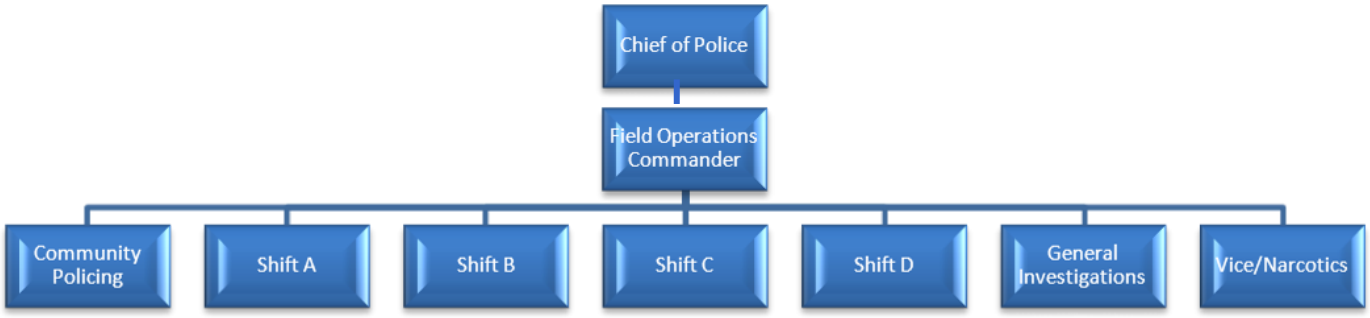

If you are interested in becoming a member of the Prince George Business Watch or starting a Neighborhood Watch Group in your community, please contact Sergeant Earl Crawford or Officer Harold Shreves of the Prince George Community Policing Unit at (804) 863-1847 or communitypolicing@princegeorgecountyva.gov.

Hopewell-Prince George Crime Solvers

The Hopewell-Prince George Crime Solvers is proud to assist with solving and preventing crimes in the area by offering rewards for tips that result in solving cases and arrests of wanted suspects.

Prince George Police Officers along with the Crime Solvers Board work hard to help prevent and solve crimes holding fundraisers and meetings with the community at Neighborhood Watch events like National Night Out, through Student Crime Solvers and other events within the County.

This year's fundraiser included the annual rib fest, and under the committee leadership of Lt. Paul Burroughs raised the largest amount of money since the event's inception. Also the Board and members of the Prince George Police Department reached out to the community for the Expanded Farmers' Market that featured an antique faire, appraisal station and best of competition with nearly 40 competitors.

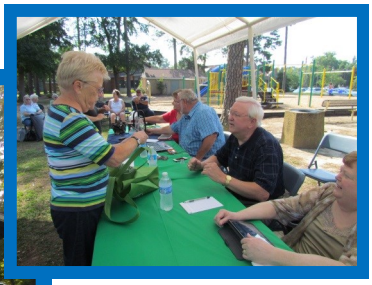

"As a non-profit organization, our Board's volunteers work hard to raise funds for such rewards and take each pay out consideration seriously," said Crime Solvers President Adrienne Wallace. "It is our goal to not only assist in solving crimes and reward those who come forward with information, but also to help with overall crime prevention."

Hopewell-Prince George Crime Solvers operates solely on fundraising activities and donations and receives no tax funding. Donations may be sent to:

The Bike Rodeo Program Along with Prince George Parks & Recreation Department, the Police Department sponsored 9 Bike Rodeos and 2 Bike Safety Presentation at different locations around the County in 2014. Bicycles remain associated with more childhood injuries than any other consumer product except the automobile. Wearing a helmet reduces the risk of brain injury by approximately 90%. The rodeos focused on bike safety and participants receive helpful tips to improve their riding experience. They had their brakes, seats, and other equipment inspected to insure safety features are in place and are working properly. Also this year, Community Policing Officer Grochmal participated in "Bike for the Blue", which is a bike ride of approximately 117 miles from Richmond to Washington DC to show remembrance to the fallen police officers at the national memorial during police week.

Police and Community Together Program

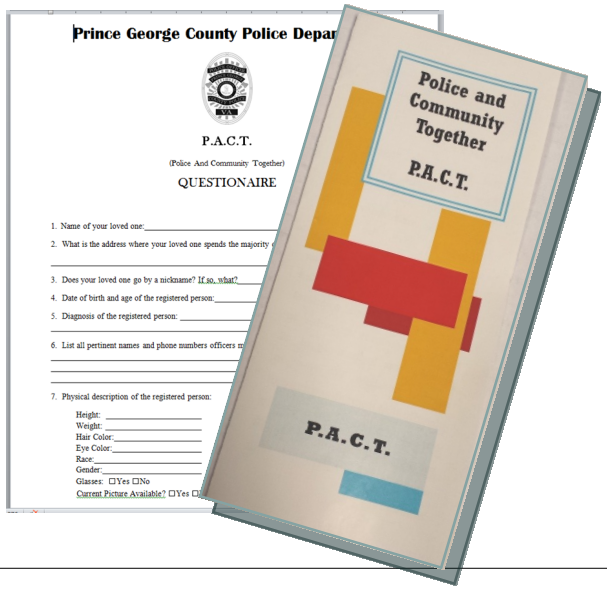

In 2013, the Prince George County Police Department developed and implemented an exciting and innovative program for our autistic residents - the Police and Community Together program, also known as P.A.C.T. The Police Department recognizes the need to partner with the families of a special segment of our community in order to provide the highest level of service possible.

The P.A.C.T. Program introduces public safety resources from Prince George County to our autistic residents and their families. We want to identify this special segment of our community that has family members under the age of 18 who have been diagnosed with Autism. The Police Department would like to obtain vital information about your loved ones that can be used to locate them if they become lost or inadvertently walk away.

The Prince George County Police Department has partnered with the Prince George County Schools, Department of Social Services, District 19 Community Services Board, Prince George Special Olympics, and the Ft. Lee Exceptional Family Member Program to assist with the P.A.C.T. Program.

Communications

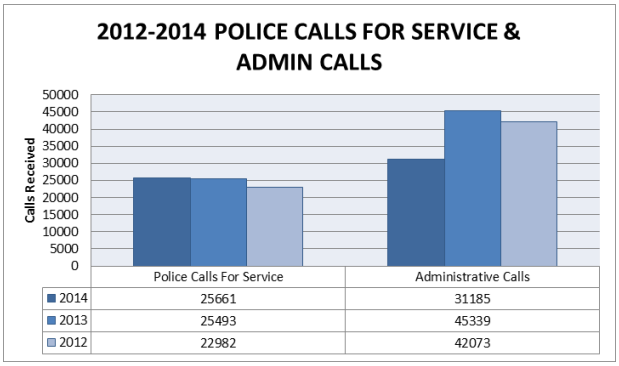

The Prince George County Communications Center is staffed by professional communications personnel and is manned 24 hours a day, seven days a week to provide around the clock service to the citizens of Prince George County. Due to this high level of service Communications Officers are required to work a variety of shifts. Their duties include but are not limited to, receiving emergency 911 and non-emergency requests for Police, Animal Services and Fire/EMS. The Communications Officer must be able to determine the nature and urgency of incoming calls, prioritize the calls and dispatch the appropriate emergency equipment.

The function of the Prince George County Emergency Communications Center is to serve as the communications liaison between the Public, Police Department, Fire Department, and Emergency Medical Services, and to receive citizen's requests and efficiently relay all information necessary to the operation of the Department. It is the Emergency Communications Center's responsibility to the citizens and visitors within Prince George County, to provide for dispatch of Police, Fire and EMS service and public safety in the most effective and efficient manner possible.

(Prince George, VA) – Prince George County Public Safety Collaboration Results in EMD Implementation

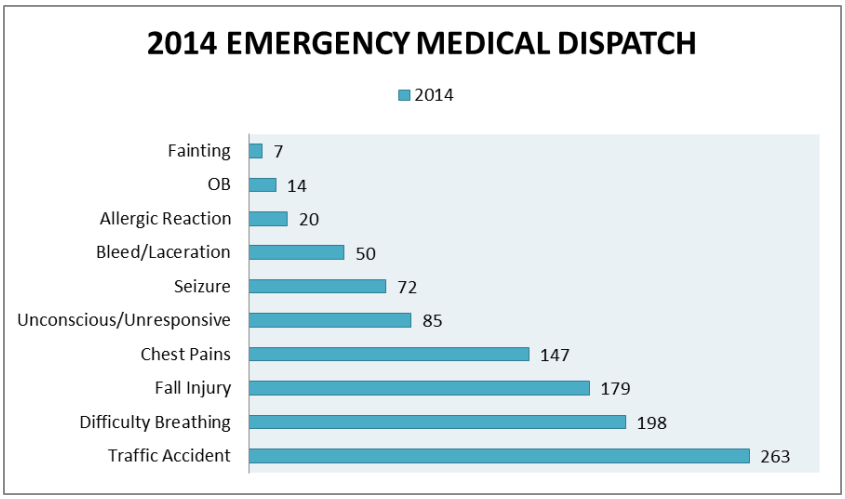

After months of training and preparation, the Prince George County Emergency Communication Center began providing Emergency Medical Dispatch-EMD today. Recognizing the need to raise the standard of care for their community, Police Chief Ed Frankenstein and Fire/EMS Director Brad Owens established a committee comprised of public safety professionals to create a program tailored to benefit the citizens of Prince George County.

Under the direction of Prince George County's Operational Medical Director, dispatchers have scripted instructions to handle CPR, childbirth assistance, airway relief and other emergency situations. The responses received by the dispatcher provide critical information that can be relayed to responding EMS providers so they may be well prepared to deal with the particular emergency prior to their arrival. Further, it allows the Dispatcher to rapidly contact additional specialized emergency resources when needed.

The Prince George County Emergency Communication Center is one of only a few jurisdictions in the tri-city area using Emergency Medical Dispatch and is comprised of 12 dispatchers and 2 supervisors. The dispatchers work 12 hour shifts and have a minimum staffing level of two. During peak hours, the Center is staffed with 3 dispatchers. In 2013, the Prince George County Emergency Communication Center received 19,734 (911) calls.

County leaders to include the Board of Supervisors, and County Administrator, Mr. Percy Ashcraft, are committed to ensuring a more complete level of care for the citizens and visitors of Prince George County.

A special thanks to retired Chesterfield County Communication Supervisor Pamela Cimburke for her guidance and expertise.

Physical Ability

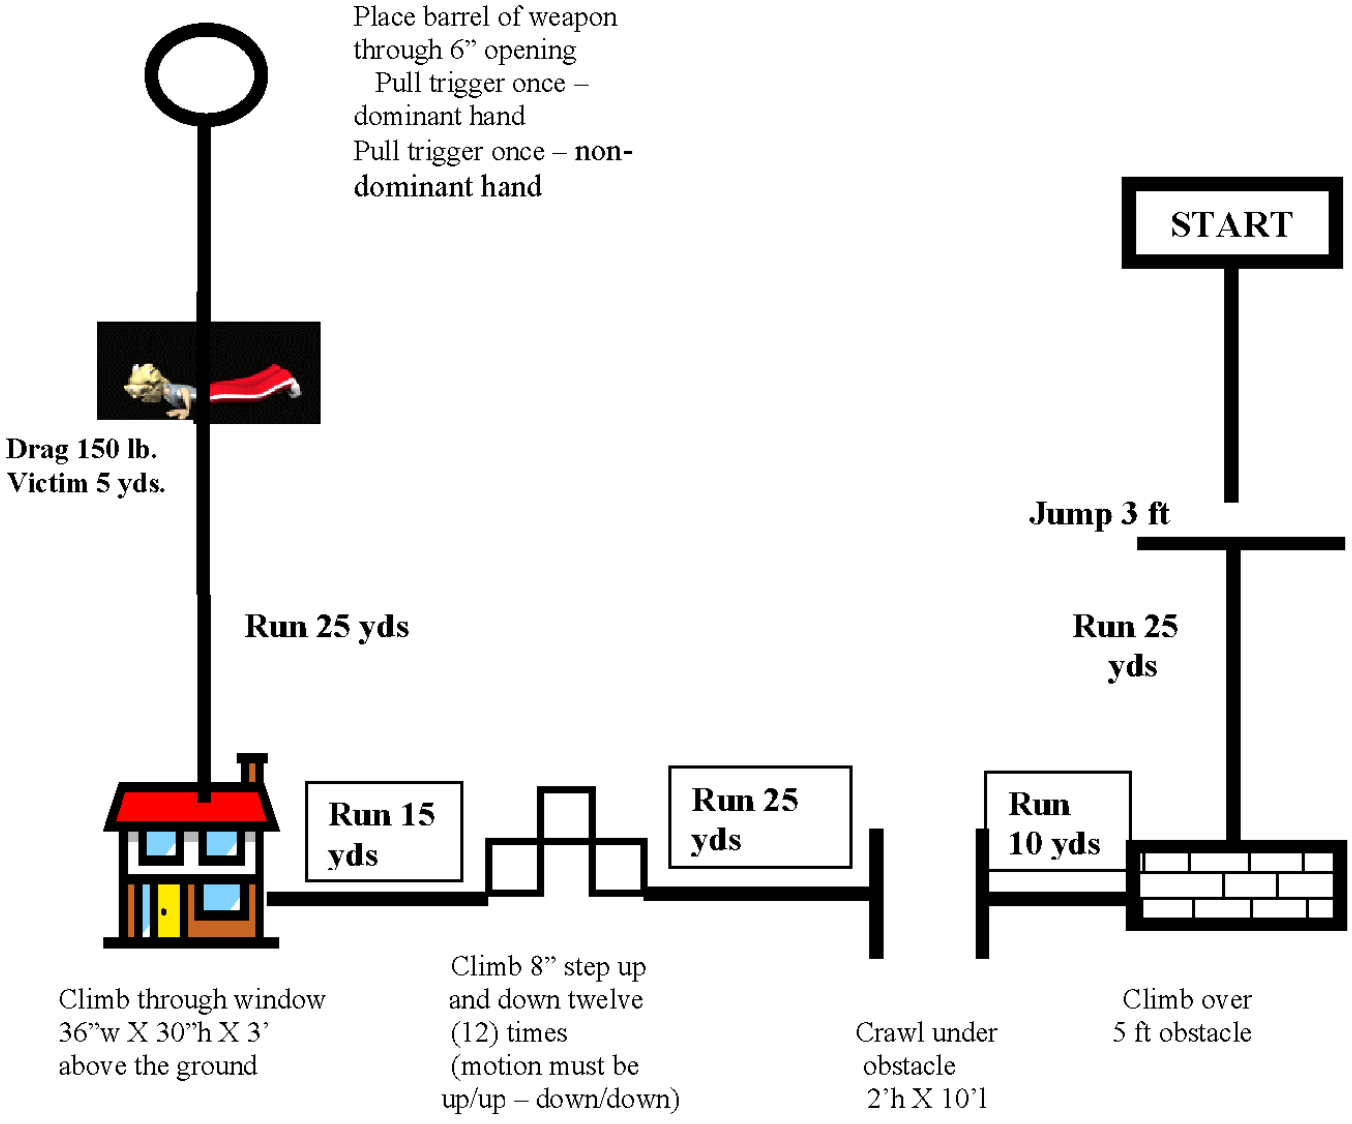

The Prince George County Police Department recognizes the critical need for physical fitness in law enforcement. As a result, the Department requires sworn officers to successfully complete a physical ability course each year. The course was derived from a statewide Job Task Analysis and established by subject matter experts working in conjunction with the Virginia Department of Criminal Justice Services.

Physically fit officers are better able to cope with the difficult schedules, demanding workloads and stressful situations encountered by those in the law enforcement profession.

The Physical Ability Course is the sole pass/fail fitness test for all sworn officers employed by the Prince George County Police Department. The officer must successfully complete the 150-yard course including all (8) eight obstacles in 1:43 (one minute and forty three seconds or 103 seconds). Every sworn law enforcement officer employed by the Prince George County Police Department is required to take and pass the Physical Ability Course annually, regardless of rank or duty assignment.

Maddie's Fund® is a family foundation endowed by the founder of Workday® and PeopleSoft, Dave Duffield and his wife, Cheryl. The Foundation is named after the family's beloved Miniature Schnauzer who passed away in 1997. Maddie's Fund is helping to achieve and sustain a no-kill nation by providing solutions to the most challenging issues facing the animal welfare community through grant giving, hands-on animal care, and research and education.

In January, we were invited to participate in the event by the Richmond SPCA. The two day adoption event took place during the weekend of May 31st. All adoptions during this period were free during this two day period. The four locations where the adoptions took place were Prince George County Adoption Center, Tractor Supply (Prince George County), Boulevard Flowers (Chester), and PetCo. Chester).

For participating, the Prince George County Animal Services and Adoption Center received a generous subsidy for each adoption from Maddie's Fund. The total amount received was $62,000.

During the two day period 43 dogs and 33 cats were adopted!
