VIRGINIA IS FOR LOVERS

Welcome to Prince George County, Virginia.

If you are just visiting, we think you will find our County a fantastic place to live or locate a business. We believe our vision statement truly reflects our County, "A global community where families thrive and businesses prosper."

If you are one of the County's residents, you already know our County is a great place to live, work, and raise a family.

When established in 1703, Prince George County encompassed an area from where the Appomattox River joins the James River, south and west to the North Carolina line, and to the foothills of the Blue Ridge Mountains. Today this area is divided into 17 counties and 4 cities. Our County is rich in history from the first days of Captain John Smith's exploration of the new world through the Civil War. President Lincoln spent two weeks in Prince George County just before the fall of Petersburg and Richmond as the Civil War was ending.

Prince George County operates with five elected Supervisors under the traditional Board form of government. The Board has legislative responsibilities to include adopting ordinances and resolutions which govern the County. The Board also has administrative responsibilities such as levying taxes, establishing a budget, appropriating funds, and overseeing general County operations. A County Administrator oversees the day to day operations of the County.

Prince George County is proud of its rural heritage. Our Comprehensive Plan recognizes this and works to preserve our farm land while designating specific areas in the northern portions of the County for business development. Our industrial park has many internationally known businesses. Just to name a few: Amazon, Goya Foods Distribution Center, Perdue Farms, and the Rolls Royce Crosspointe Centre facility. We are also home to the Commonwealth Center for Advanced Manufacturing (CCAM). The industrial park is served by three Interstate Highways, US Route 460, the Port of Virginia, and Norfolk Southern railroad which makes the transportation of products very easy in all directions. Prince George County is also the home of the Fort Lee Army Base.

On behalf of the Board of Supervisors and the County Administration, thank you for visiting our County. Whether you live here or are just visiting, we are certain Prince George County has much to offer.

LEARN MORE

Prince George County, Virginia, has been open for business for almost 400 years and business development is thriving today. Known for its prime location in central Virginia and the Mid-Atlantic region of the United States, Prince George is easily accessible to the global marketplace. Prince George County is home to the likes of Rolls-Royce, Commonwealth Center for Advanced Manufacturing, GOYA, Amazon, Perdue, Service Center Metals, and many more.

In 2005, a Base Realignment and Closure (BRAC) law was passed by Congress. One of BRAC's requirements was the relocation of the U.S. Army Ordnance Center and School headquarters, the Ordnance Mechanical Maintenance School, the United States Army Ordnance Munitions and Electronic Maintenance School, and the Ordnance Museum to Fort Lee by the end of 2011. The transfer of artifacts from Aberdeen to Fort Lee began in August 2009, with the former museum now designated the U.S. Army Ordnance Training and Heritage Center at Fort Lee.

There are 3 rivers in Prince George County: Appomattox, James, and Blackwater Rivers.

Top 5 Things To Do in

Virginia Czech & Slovak Folklife Festival

This is a wonderful family festival that shares the heritage of the many Czech & Slovak families who settled in this region after the Civil War and continue to be community leaders here. You will enjoy the traditional music and dancing and you will LOVE the delicious traditional foods, and do not miss the baked goods. There will also be beer. There are genealogical exhibits, farm exhibits, and children's activities. You can visit the Czech & Slovak gallery in the Prince George County Regional Heritage Center. Please see page 5 for more information.

Visit Some of the Nation's Oldest Churches and Colonial Attractions

A driving tour through the County using the map on the back cover and the corresponding numbers throughout this guide is a means of further experiencing the history and heritage that surrounds you. Whether it be an immigrant Czech community or a church, an old dirt road or the site of a rail station, the riverbank, or a green field that has been producing crops for generations, Prince George continues to promise the visitor a sense of belonging in its ever-unfolding story. Please see pages 5-8 for more information.

Rivers, Trails, Hunting, and Fishing

Prince George County offers great access to both the James and Appomattox Rivers. Take a trip to the Appomattox River Regional Park where you will find 3 miles of trail, a fishing pier, and a kayak and canoe launch. Also, request a permit to visit the James River National Wildlife Refuge, a 4,400-acre forest that offers limited hiking, wildlife observation, and deer hunting. Please see page 11 for more information.

Prince George County is dedicated to building a sustainable, regional foodshed and educating people about the benefits of sustainable agriculture. Our producer-grower farmers' market emphasizes the direct connection between local food choices and the quality and health of our environment and daily lives. We support farmers/growers who cultivate the land using sustainable agricultural practices or raise livestock using humane and sustainable practices. By providing these farmers/growers with direct markets for their products, Prince George helps sustain the regional farm economy and helps ensure the future of farming in our area.

Fort Lee

DIVE INTO HISTORY

The history of Fort Lee has three phases beginning with the United States' entry into World War I. With the Declaration of War in April 1917, the Army leased 9,000 acres in Prince George County for the construction of one of 32 new cantonments built to train the mobilizing Army. Following a whirlwind of construction, Camp Lee became the home of the 80th "Blue Ridge" Division, which deployed to France in May 1918. A daily population of more than 40,000 troops trained at Camp Lee until the Armistice in November 1918. Serving as a demobilization station until 1921, Camp Lee was dismantled with the land reverting to the Commonwealth of Virginia for use as a forest and game preserve. It would remain so until war again threatened.

Since 1775 Quartermaster Soldiers have provided logistical support to the Army. Their stories are told in the museum that also contains such important artifacts, including:

- The Nation's first 50-star flag
- Patton's World War II jeep,
- General Eisenhower's field quarters
- General Grant's saddle

Recently the museum opened a new permanent exhibit, "Parade to Battle: The Evolution of Army Uniforms" featuring key pieces from the museum's rich collection. On display rare sample uniforms that highlight the role of the Quartermaster Corps in designing, producing, and supplying Army clothing from 1842-1963.

The U.S. Army Women's Museum, located at Fort Lee, VA is the only museum in the world dedicated to preserving and sharing the history of the contributions of women to the U.S. Army. It originated at Fort McClellan, Alabama in 1955 until it was moved to Fort Lee, reopening in May 2001. The Museum honors women's contributions to the Army telling their stories with interactive exhibits and videos throughout the gallery.

The U.S. Army Women's Museum serves as an educational institution, providing military history training and instruction to soldiers, veterans, and the civilian community. The museum is the custodian and repository of artifacts and archival material pertaining to the service of women across all branches and organizations of the U.S. Army from inception to the present day. The museum collects, preserves, manages, interprets, and exhibits these unique artifacts for training and educational outreach.

The museum is free and offers guided tours, film viewings, an art gallery, distance learning programs, and a kid's corner.

"A great history lesson of women's contribution to the USA from the frontier to now and perhaps the future. Very detailed and very accurate. A MUST see and visit."

The Cardinal Golf Club is a 27-hole championship course located at Fort Lee. The original 18 holes (Red and White), were built in 1947 are a masterpiece of traditional layout. The third nine (Blue) opened in 2002 and was designed by Ault, Clark and Associates. The course offers a nice variety of length and playability. The three nines are intended to challenge golfers of all skill levels. Course yardages measure 6,930 at the longest from the back tees (playing White to Blue) through 5,160 (playing White to Blue) from the most forward tees.

The gentle rolling hills and mature, tree-lined fairways will provide a true champion's challenge for golfers and our professional staff makes very effort to accommodate our guests' preferences.

The Cardinal Golf Club offers a great golfing experience for everyone and features a full practice range, 2 large putting/chipping greens, a practice bunker, and a fully stocked pro shop. Tee times start at 7:30 am (daylight savings time); 8 am (standard time).

The Cardinal Golf Course Quick Service Restaurant offers hot and cold sandwiches, beverages and a wide selection of draft and canned beer with three televisions to enjoy multiple broadcast events.
