City of Wentzville Named 2019 Top Workplace

[Wentzville, MO — June 24, 2019] The City of Wentzville has been named to the St. Louis Post-Dispatch 2019 Top Workplace list. This list is based solely on employee feedback gathered through a third-party survey, conducted by Energage, which measures several aspects of workplace culture, including how employees feel about pay, benefits, managers and leadership – just to name a few. The anonymous survey also measures employee engagement, retention and motivation. The City of Wentzville was the only municipal government to be honored this year. More than 170 City of Wentzville staff members, representing 73% of City employees, responded to the survey in April, and took the time to provide valuable feedback.

“At the City of Wentzville, we are dedicated to providing the best employment experience in local government. We are honored to have received this recognition directly from our employees. We work hard to create an environment where City employees will genuinely enjoy coming to work every day, which translates into increased productivity, effective teamwork and, in turn, ensures a high level of customer service for the community we serve,” said Wentzville City Administrator David Gipson.

Only those employers that scored the highest locally and met national benchmarks made the list. More than 220 organizations in the St. Louis area were surveyed – representing 94,000 employees – but only 150 organizations were awarded a 2019 Top Workplace designation. The Post-Dispatch produced a special section in the June 23 Sunday edition, which can be viewed here: <http://bit.ly/wentzville-2019topworkplace>.
