“When people choose to move to Wentzville, they are choosing more than just a house — they are choosing a home. They are putting down roots and becoming part of our growing community. Welcome to our community.”

MAYOR NICK GUCCIONE, CITY OF WENTZVILLE

WELCOME FROM THE MAYOR

Wentzville is a vibrant city whose charm is exceeded only by the remarkable people who call it home. While times have changed, the friendliness and hospitality that recall a simpler era have not. In Wentzville, we enjoy a way of life that contains not only the charming characteristics of a small town, but all of the amenities of a dynamic suburban environment.

We're glad you have chosen to make our community yours. Our continued growth can be attributed to a dedicated and visionary City government and staff, coupled with involved community members and vibrant businesses working together to prepare Wentzville for the future.

Wentzville offers a unique quality of life, with convenient proximity to the St. Louis-metropolitan area and the benefits of a family-oriented community. Our exceptional City services and safety forces, excellent school system, and scenic parks and recreation areas ensure that Wentzville is a great place to live, work and explore.

~ Mayor Nick Guccione

THE HISTORY OF WENTZVILLE

Wentzville – named for Erasmus L. Wentz, who was responsible for the construction and building of the city's railroad line – has deep roots in St. Charles County. In 1795, frontiersman Daniel Boone, a pioneer and trailblazer from Kentucky, and his family were among the first Americans to settle in the county. They were followed by trappers and settlers from Virginia and Kentucky, who followed Boone to this area. During the 1830s, German craftsmen and farmers began to arrive, and, in turn, fostered the development of the county's communities.

In the mid 1850s, Wentzville's primary industry was growing tobacco. The original building of the Wentzville Tobacco Factory Company stood on E. Fourth Street. The tobacco industry declined in the late 1800s and many of the tobacco factories converted to flour mills. A few years later, in March of 1872, Wentzville was incorporated as a fourth-class city. Throughout its early years, Wentzville continually saw slow and steady growth. The dawn of the superhighway, which entered town from the west and north, set the stage for additional growth.

More than 100 years later, Wentzville was poised for more growth. In 1979, the Wentzville Crossings shopping center was completed. This was the first large shopping center development in the community. And, in 1980, the General Motors Corporation began construction of its largest and most modern auto assembly plant at the time.

The last 20 years, Wentzville has continued to embrace growth – with expanded thoroughfares, new residential and commercial growth, additional parks, as well as major expansions and extensions of public water and sewer infrastructure. In hopes of preserving its hometown feel, the City – while modern and proactive – has continued to hold fast to its roots.

Mission: Clean Stream

Each April, volunteers from St. Charles County and the communities of Cottleville, Dardenne Prairie, Lake Saint Louis, O'Fallon, St. Charles and Wentzville join with Greenway Network and Missouri River Relief to remove trash from local streams and lakes. Mission: Clean Stream started as a joint effort to pick up litter from publicly accessible creek areas. Today, Mission: Clean Stream has evolved into a challenge, or charge, for thousands to do some serious cleanup of the amount of trash in waterways across the county in just two hours. Watch for details on our website and Facebook page each spring. To learn more, call (636) 332-9236.

Utility Billing

Services are billed monthly and due 10 days after the bill date. Water charges are based on usage calculated by meter reads. Sewer for residential customers is based on the average water used over the four months of November, December, January and February.
